

The greater St. Louis area is lucky to have a wide variety of religious experiences. Knowing the dates of major religious holidays is a simple but powerful way to learn more about the observances of our religiously diverse neighbors. Recognizing each other as neighbors and having a better understanding of one another is how we begin to build bridges, strengthen our connections to one another, and work toward a more inclusive St. Louis where we all feel safe and supported practicing our beliefs.

Members of the Cabinet and Board of Interfaith Partnership of Greater St. Louis assisted with reviewing the holidays included in this 2022 calendar. Here you'll find dates and descriptions of major religious holidays for the Bahá'í Faith, Buddhism, Christian Science, Hinduism, Islam, Jainism, Judaism, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Orthodox Christianity, Protestant Christianity, Roman Catholicism, and Sikhism. Brief descriptions of each holiday are also included. Many communities begin observances at sundown, which are noted. Lunar holidays may vary based on sighting the new moon.
